

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON

SHAWN HUSS, a single man, and others similarly situated,

Plaintiff,

v.

SPOKANE COUNTY, a municipal corporation,

Defendant.

No. CV-05-180-FVS

ORDER GRANTING MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION

THIS MATTER came before the Court for a hearing on the Defendant's Motion for Reconsideration, Ct. Rec. 80, and the Intervener Defendant's Motion for Reconsideration, Ct. Rec. 77. The Plaintiff was represented by Breean L. Beggs and John D. Sklut. Spokane County was represented by Frank J. Conklin and James K. Kaufman. The State of Washington was represented by Timothy D. Ford.

BACKGROUND

The Plaintiff, Shawn Huss, brings suit individually and on behalf of a class of others similarly situated, under 42 U.S.C. §§ 1983 and 1988, seeking both monetary damages and declaratory and injunctive relief. The Plaintiff alleges that the official booking fee policy of the Spokane County Jail ("the Jail") and RCW § 70.48.390 are facially unconstitutional because they deprive persons of their property without due process of law in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment of

1 the United States Constitution.

2 The parties filed cross motions for summary judgment. On August 3 29, 2006, the Court issued an Order holding that RCW § 70.48.390 is 4 facially unconstitutional. The Court accordingly granted the 5 Plaintiff's Motion For Partial Summary Judgment and denied the 6 Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment (Ct. Rec. 75). The County and 7 State each separately moved for reconsideration.

8 DISCUSSION

9 I. LEGAL STANDARD

10 Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 59(e), a party may move to 11 amend a judgment within ten days of the filing of the judgment. Fed.
12 R. Civ. P. 59(e). However, such a motion for reconsideration "offers 13 an 'extraordinary remedy, to be used sparingly in the interests of 14 finality and conservation of judicial resources.'" Carroll v.
15 Nakatani, 342 F.3d 934, 945 (9th Cir. 2003) (quoting 12 James Wm. Moore 16 et al., Moore's Federal Practice § 59.30 (3d ed. 2000)). "A Rule 17 59(e) motion may not be used to raise arguments or present evidence 18 for the first time when they could reasonably have been raised earlier 19 in the litigation." Carroll, 342 F.3d at 945; Kona Enters. v. Estate 20 of Bishop, 229 F.3d 877, 890 (9th Cir. 2000). "Nor is reconsideration 21 to be used to ask the Court to rethink what it has already thought."
22 Motorola, Inc. v. J.B. Rodgers Mech. Contrs., Inc., 215 F.R.D. 581, 23 582 (D. Ariz. 2003). See also Taylor v. Knapp, 871 F.2d 803, 805 (9th 24 Cir. 1988) (holding denial of a motion for reconsideration proper where 25 "it presented no arguments that had not already been raised in 26 opposition to summary judgment"); Backlund v. Barnhart, 778 F.2d 1386,

1 1388 (9th Cir. 1985) (same). Absent exceptional circumstances, only 2 three types of arguments provide an appropriate basis for a motion for 3 reconsideration: arguments based on newly discovered evidence, 4 arguments that the court has committed clear error, and arguments 5 based on "an intervening change in the controlling law." 89 Orange 6 St. Partners v. Arnold, 179 F.3d 656, 665 (9th Cir. 1999).

7 II. STANDING

8 As a jurisdictional issue, standing may be raised at any point in 9 the litigation. DBSI/TRI IV Ltd. P'ship v. United States, 465 F.3d 10 1031, 1038 (9th Cir. 2006). The Court accordingly considers the 11 Defendant's standing concerns free of the procedural constraints 12 associated with a motion for reconsideration.

13 A party has standing to bring a claim when he or she has suffered 14 an actual injury, the defendant's conduct caused the injury, and 15 action by the court is capable of redressing the injury. Lujan v.
16 Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560, 112 S.Ct. 2130, 2136, 119 L.
17 Ed. 2d 351, 364 (1992). There is a presumption that an individual 18 only has standing to bring claims based on injuries he or she has 19 suffered personally, rather than injuries suffered by a third party.
20 Singleton v. Wulff, 428 U.S. 106, 113, 96 S.Ct. 2868, 2873-2874, 49 L.
21 Ed. 2d 826, 832-33 (1976). Where an individual seeks to represent a 22 class of individuals, the proposed class representative must have 23 standing in his or her own right. Armstrong v. Davis, 275 F.3d 849, 24 860 (9th Cir. 2001); Blum v. Yaretsky, 457 U.S. 991, 102 S. Ct. 2777, 25 73 L. Ed. 2d 534 (1982).

26 A plaintiff seeking declaratory or injunctive relief must

1 demonstrate that he or she is under a realistic threat of future 2 injury. City of Los Angeles v. Lyons, 461 U.S. 95, 102-103, 103 S.
3 Ct. 1660, 1665, 75 L. Ed. 2d 675, 684-685 (1983); Jones v. City of 4 L.A., 444 F.3d 1118, 1126 (9th Cir. 2006). While the fact that the 5 plaintiff has suffered injury in the past may make the repetition of 6 the injury more likely, it does not in itself create a threat of 7 future harm sufficient to confer standing. Armstrong, 275 F.3d at 8 861; Fortyune v. Am. Multi-Cinema, Inc., 364 F.3d 1075, 1081 (9th Cir.
9 2004).

10 A past injury is likely to recur when "the harm alleged is 11 directly traceable to a written policy." Armstrong, 275 at 861; 12 Fortyune, 364 F.3d at 1081. An injury is also likely to recur when it 13 is a part of an officially sanctioned pattern of behavior. Armstrong, 14 275 at 861. However, a plaintiff seeking to challenge an 15 unconstitutional policy must show "a genuine threat of enforcement" of 16 the policy against the plaintiff. Scott v. Pasadena Unified School 17 District, 306 F.3d 646, 656 (9th Cir. 2002). Moreover, "standing is 18 inappropriate where the future injury could be inflicted only in the 19 event of future illegal conduct by the plaintiff." Armstrong, 275 20 F.3d at 865-66 (internal citations omitted).

21 The Court finds that the Plaintiff does not have standing to seek 22 declaratory or injunctive relief. As the Plaintiff explained at oral 23 argument, the assessment of booking fees without any prior hearing is 24 imminently likely to recur due to the existence of both the statute 25 and the County's written policy. However, the Plaintiff has not 26 demonstrated that he, personally, is likely to be arrested and

1 assessed the booking fee again. While he could arguably be arrested 2 and assessed the booking fee at anytime, such a speculative injury is 3 insufficient to confer standing. Lyons, 461 U.S. at 105-06, 103 S.
4 Ct. at 1667, 75 L. Ed. 2d at 687. In order to demonstrate standing, 5 the Plaintiff would need to show that he is at least "reasonably 6 likely" to be arrested again. Jones v. City of L.A., 444 F.3d 1118, 7 1126-27 (9th Cir. 2006). The Plaintiff has not made this argument.

8 In addition, the Plaintiff would likely only suffer the booking 9 fee again if he were to engage in illegal activity. In Armstrong, the 10 Ninth Circuit held that parolees had standing to challenge 11 discriminatory parole hearing procedures because,

12 The [parole] Board is not required to establish probable 13 cause to begin the parole revocation process, nor is it 14 necessary that any law enforcement officer observe the 15 alleged violation: the Board may start parole revocation proceedings when a rather low level of suspicion arises as the result of 'some minimal inquiry' into the facts of the case.

16 275 F.3d at 866. In contrast, the Plaintiff may only be arrested 17 again if law enforcement officers have probable cause to believe that 18 he has committed a crime. The Plaintiff will thus only suffer an 19 injury again if he commits an illegal act. This potential injury is 20 insufficient to confer standing.

21 III. MOOTNESS

22 Under Article III of the United States Constitution, a federal 23 court may only hear a cause of action that presents a live case or 24 controversy. When a case "loses its character as a live case or 25 controversy," it becomes moot. Pit River Tribe v. United States 26 Forest Serv., 469 F.3d 768, 780 (9th Cir. 2006). "The burden of 1 demonstrating mootness is a heavy one." Cantrell v. City of Long 2 Beach, 241 F.3d 674, 678 (9th Cir. 2001). Mootness, like standing, 3 goes to this Court's jurisdiction to hear the Plaintiff's claims.

4 DBSI/TRI, 465 F.3d at 1038. The Court must therefore consider it on a 5 motion for reconsideration.

6 The County argues that the Plaintiff's claim against the County 7 is moot for two reasons. First, the Plaintiff received a refund of 8 the booking fee he was obliged to pay. Second, the County has changed 9 its policy concerning booking fees since the time of the Plaintiff's 10 arrest.

11 The Court holds that the Plaintiff's case is not moot. As the 12 Supreme Court has explained, the doctrine of mootness requires "the 13 plaintiff 'must have suffered, or be threatened with, an actual injury 14 traceable to the defendant and likely to be redressed by a favorable 15 judicial decision.'" Burnett v. Lampert, 432 F.3d 996, 999 (9th Cir.
16 2005) (quoting Spencer v. Kemna, 523 U.S. 1, 7, 118 S. Ct. 978, 140 L.
17 Ed. 2d 43 (1998)). Here, the injury the Plaintiff suffered was not 18 the permanent loss of his property, but rather the "right to use and 19 possess [his] money from the time of booking until such time as [he 20 was] exonerated." This loss has not been rendered moot by the refund.

21 Nor does the County's revision of its booking policy render the 22 case moot. As the Plaintiff's counsel explained at oral argument, the 23 County's policy still permits assessment of the booking fee without a 24 hearing.

25 CONCLUSION

26 The Plaintiff lacks standing to bring a facial challenge against

1 the constitutionality of RCW § 70.48.390 and the Jail's booking fee 2 policy because he has failed to demonstrate that he is threatened with 3 future injury. While the Plaintiff may continue to pursue his claim 4 for damages, his requests for declaratory and injunctive relief must 5 be dismissed. The Court's prior order granting summary judgment will 6 be withdrawn and the State's motion for reconsideration is moot.

7 The Plaintiff's Motion for Partial Summary Judgment sought
8 summary judgment on the issue of liability. (Ct. Rec. 27 at 1.) 9 However, the briefing on this motion almost exclusively addressed the 10 Plaintiff's facial challenge to the constitutionality of RCW § 11 70.48.390 and the Jail's booking fee policy. Neither party has fully 12 briefed the issue of whether the application of RCW § 70.48.390 and 13 the Jail's booking policy to the Plaintiff, and, potentially, other 14 similarly situated individuals, violated their civil rights.
15 Supplemental briefing is therefore necessary. Accordingly,

16 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED:

17 1. The Defendant's Motion for Reconsideration, Ct. Rec. 80, is 18 GRANTED.

19 2. The Defendant Intervener's Motion for Reconsideration, Ct.
20 Rec. 77, is DENIED AS MOOT.

21 3. The Defendant's Motion to Stay Further Discovery Until 22 Reconsideration Motion is Determined, Ct. Rec. 107, is DENIED AS MOOT.

23 4. The Court's prior Order Granting Plaintiff's Motion for 24 Partial Summary Judgment, Ct. Rec. 75, is WITHDRAWN.

25 5. The Plaintiff's claims for declaratory and injunctive relief 26 are DISMISSED.

1 6. The Plaintiff shall submit a supplemental brief, not to exceed 2 fifteen (15) pages in length, no later than 5:00 p.m. on May 14, 2007, 3 addressing the question: "Is partial summary judgment appropriate on 4 any element of the Plaintiff's suit for damages under 28 U.S.C. § 5 1983?"

6 7. The Defendant shall file its response to the supplemental 7 briefing, not to exceed fifteen (15) pages in length, no later than 8 5:00 p.m. on May 29, 2007.

9 8. The Plaintiff shall file his reply, not to exceed fifteen (15) 10 pages in length, no later than 5:00 p.m. on June 5, 2007.

11 IT IS SO ORDERED. The District Court Executive is hereby 12 directed to enter this order and furnish copies to counsel.

13 DATED this 13th day of April, 2007.
